The Northern Lights

The Northern Lights (Aurora borealis) are one of the most beautiful things you can witness when visiting Iceland during the wintertime. The Northern Lights are a natural phenomenon and sights can never be guaranteed.

If we think that is a good chance of seeing The Northern Lights that evening we will go for a hunt if not we will find a better time so this day needs to be open and could be moved earlier in your trip.

Our guide will monitor the Northern Lights forecast each night and do his best to find out where the Northern Lights might appear and take you to the best spots.
